COAL CARRIERS

GO OUT ON STRIKE

Demand Maximum For Unloading all Barges

Twenty Colored Men Leave Their Work This Morning and Hungarians May Be Imported.

COMPANY IS STANDING FIRM

Coal carriers struck at the West Kentucky Coal company for an increase in wages, this morning. Twenty colored men employed in coaling steamboats and towboats, walked out and the company's harbor boat, the Fannie Wallace, was being coaled this morning by the white members of the crew, including the captain. The men have been paid two cents a box for coaling boats where the coal was carried from shallow coal barges, and 2 1-2 cents a box from the deep barges. They struck for 2 1-2 cents a box for any barge, deep or shallow.

Until the strike is adjusted the West Kentucky Coal company is practically out of the coaling business on the river. The City of St. Joseph, wanting 3,000 bushels, and other boats, will have to wait until the colored men go back to work, as white men never have been found who could stand the work. The boxes the men carry, hold 2 1-2 bushels with two men to the box. These boxes are filled with shovels and are carried by hand from the barge to the boat. In a deep barge, the men have to walk up to the edge of the barge and thence down to the boat. The company in the past has made a distinction in wages according to the depth of the barge, but the coal carriers are not satisfied and walked out this morning on the refusal of higher wages.

This difficulty of barges is not met with at the St. Bernard Coal company's docks, where the men were at work this morning at wages no higher than have been paid at the West Kentucky Coal company. The barges used by this company are covered with a floor and the walking is always downward from the barges, making the work much easier. However the capacity of these barges is trifling compared with the regular barges.

Officers of the West Kentucky Coal company believe that if the present demand is met, it will be only a short time until another increase will be asked. But the river colored workers hang together fairly well and to get their contracts executed the increase may have to be conceded. The restlessness of labor in this line is evidenced among the rousters on the steamboats.

Captain Leslie Bennett, Dan Reed, engineer; Charles Boos, fireman; and Lon Powers, deck hand, were coaling the Fannie Wallace this morning in the absence of the coal carriers. The towboat Nellie was waiting to be coaled but this could not be done until help is secured. Efforts to secure labor in the place of the strikers were unavailing this morning.

May Get Hungarians.

Hungarian laborers may be brought from Memphis to replace the striking coal carriers of the West Kentucky Coal company. The company employs this labor to a certain extent in Memphis and it has been found efficient. Twenty or more with an interpreter would be sufficient to place the company above the vicissitudes of the colored river labor.

Evansville river interests are contending with the same labor troubles that Paducah is facing. The Fowler line finds it difficult to secure labor at that end of the line and several arrests have been made by the authorities there in the strike. A river man experienced in the handling of colored river labor said that if you enter a saloon or other place where the rousters congregate and ask the first man you see if he will work for answer will control the action of every man in the crowd. If he answers yes, you can get as many men as you want; if no, not a single man will break the precedent. They hang together to that extent.

NO LOCAL OPTION

VOTE THIS FALL

The Anti-Saloon League Will Postpone Fight

Several Reasons Advanced and Opinion is Unanimously Expressed at Meeting.

TO AWAIT MORE LEGISLATION

Placing their faith in the next state legislature's actions on the county unit bill, and concluding that they are at present unprepared to precipitate a local option fight in Paducah, the members of the Anti-Saloon league met at the court house Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock and adopted resolutions, embodying their views on the local situation. One important step taken was the appointment of a committee to wait on the Republican and Democratic candidates for the state legislature, to secure expressions from them on their attitude toward the county unit bill. It is desired by the prohibition forces to extend this law to include at least every city in the state except Louisville. They point in their resolutions, to the attitude taken by both political parties in the state, saying the Republican party is committed to the enlargement of the bill and that the Democratic leaders have spoken in its favor.

Some of the reasons for deferring the election as given yesterday, were: lack of time, lack of an efficient organization, lack of funds to prosecute the work, and the realization that a campaign of education extending over several months, must be undertaken. President E. W. Bagby presided at yesterday's meeting and the report of James Koger, E. E. Bell, C. W. Morrison, B. B. Breenden and J. E. Potter, the committee appointed to set a date for a vote, was concurred in. They advised the postponement until next spring.

There was some opposition to deferring the vote, both on the committee and in the meeting yesterday, but the majority sentiment passed the resolutions.

"SHAKING DOWN" GIVEN PRISONER

According to Report Made to Cairo Police Concerning Former Paducahan in That City Saturday Afternoon

$6 IS THE PRICE OF LIBERTY.

Cairo, Ill., July 22. (Special).—Charged with "shaking down" a colored would-be murderer for $6, as the price of the latter's liberty, Joe Potts, white, a bartender, said to have come from Paducah, is in jail here today. The colored man, Jim Howard, a tie carrier from Jopka, is also in jail. Howard shot and wounded Howard Beadles, a driver for the Cairo Hide and Fur company, at Sixth and Railroad streets Saturday.

Howard came to Cairo on the excursion of the George Cowling. He knew Beadles and hailed him on the wagon. Beadles, from all accounts, did not respond in a social spirit, whereupon Jim Howard whipped out a revolver and fired three times, one ball taking effect in Beadles' thigh. A porter at Uncle Joe's hotel, nearby, captured Jim Howard and turned him over to Joe Potts, to keep safely until he summoned a policeman. The porter made off, and it is claimed, Potts compelled Howard to give him $6 for his liberty.

Whatever may be said of this charge, Jim Howard escaped and was captured just as he was boarding the George Cowling. Potts was then arrested by Chief of Police Egan.

The Mayfield lodge is flourishing and this is the second trip of the Paducah lodge to that town for degree work. Mayfield will make elaborate social preparations for the visitors.

30,000 FEET OF GAS ESCAPING

Engineers of Lighting Company Spend Many Hours in Search For Leak at Tenth and Madison Streets

KEPT THEM BUSY ALL NIGHT.

Engineers at the gas plant of the Paducah Light and Power company on North Third street, were alarmed last night by the rapid consumption of gas in the heart of the night. The consumption was altogether unusual and in a volume that was rapidly exhausting the supply. The superintendent was brought out of bed at 2 o'clock this morning to take charge of the situation and the search for the cause was started with the whole city in front of them and without any clew. It was suspected that the trouble might be found somewhere in the city where excavating had been going on, and these places were visited first. The trouble at length was found on Madison street between Ninth and Tenth streets where the coffin and bones were found last week. The ditch had caved in falling on a 4-inch main of the gas company and breaking it. Before the leak was stopped 30,000 feet of gas had escaped. This would be enough to run 500 families for one day.

The decline of the tea traffic is viewed with alarm in China.

Little Girl Is Hurt.

Melber, July 22. (Special).—Attracted to the window by an approaching storm, the seven-year-old child of Lee McReynolds was badly cut about the lower limbs when the strong winds blew the window out and the flying glass struck her in many places. McReynolds lives about 1 1/2 miles from here. Dr. E. E. Davis was called and dressed the injuries about 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon, and trees were uprooted and many fences blown down.

A letter received today by relatives from Mr. Ray Bell, who left last week for Denver for his health, states he stood the trip well and already has begun to improve. This will be pleasing news to Mr. Bell's friends.

Where is Fannie Redden, of Paris, Tenn.? People Looking For Her

Where is Fannie Redden? Not since June 28 when she wrote a letter home from Paducah have relatives of pretty eighteen-year-old Fannie Redden, of Paris, Tenn., heard from her. No trace of persons with whom she is supposed to have been connected can be secured, and the case is puzzling Paducah policemen. Chief of Police James Collins received a letter today from relatives of the young girl. They say she left Paris June 27 to go to Cartersville, Ill., but never arrived there. The day after departure she wrote a letter from Paducah, dated June 28, to her parents, stating that she was going to California with "Mr. and Mrs. Wilson," and that is the last trace of her.

WHAT JAPAN IS DOING THERE.

Seoul, July 22.—Despite every effort made by Japan, the former emperor has been in constant communication since his abdication with the leaders of the anti-Japanese rioters, and is said to have practically directed the commotion. While the situation is quiet today Japanese are expecting serious trouble before the week is over.

Quiet Sunday Afternoon.

Tokio, July 22.—The latest advices from Seoul indicate that apparent calm prevailed Sunday afternoon. But the constant influx of people from the country is causing some uneasiness and fresh riots are expected.

The ministers today proceeded to the palace where the guards were doubled, and discussed the question of the establishment of a separate palace for the late emperor in accordance with the usage. It is believed that Marquis Ito will have an audience with the new emperor on Tuesday, when an arrangement will be made as to the place Japan will take in the conduct of the affairs in Korea.

Married Women

Every woman covets a shapely, pretty figure, and many of them deplore the loss of their girlish form after marriage. The bearing of children is often destructive to the mother's shapeliness. All of this can be avoided, however, by the use of Mother's Friend before baby comes, as this great liniment always prepares the body for the strain upon it, and preserves the symmetry of her form. Mother's Friend overcomes all the danger of child-birth, and carries the expectant mother safely through this critical period without pain. It is woman's greatest blessing. Thousands gratefully tell of the benefit and relief derived from the use of this wonderful remedy. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Our little book, telling all about this liniment, will be sent free.

RAILROAD NOTES

Mr. John Dugger, chief clerk to Trainmaster A. F. Page, is spending his vacation at the Jamestown exposition.

Saturday night pipe fitters and tinner of the Illinois Central held a social in their club room over the Blue Ribbon saloon on South Third street. The affair proved a most enjoyable one. Refreshments and cigars were enjoyed.

Mr. Harold Williams, of Cairo, has accepted a position in the Illinois Central tin shop.

Harry Edward Wheeler, the little son of Foreman E. Wheeler, of the I. C. tin and pipe fitting shops, is out of danger. He has been threatened with pneumonia.

Engineer Louis Cofer, who laid off from his run to attend the funeral of Engineer Henry Frisz at Central City, is back on his engine again.

An oversight of a hostler caused a water famine for engines at the Illinois Central shops Sunday night. An engine was being prepared for the road, and after taking coal was pulled to the water hydrant. Through an oversight the spout was not taken from the tank hole and when the big machine started up pulled down the hydrant. The water flooded the yards for some distance, and emptied the big tank. Pipe fitters were hurriedly summoned and after several hours repaired the break.

Mr. John Schroeder, foreman in the local Illinois Central shops, is spending his vacation in the east. His wife and child are with him. Mr. Al Leutemayer is acting in his place.

One hundred and eighty tickets were sold out of Paducah by the Illinois Central to Louisville Saturday afternoon, 75 at the Union Station, and 105 at the downtown ticket office. The rate was $2 for the round trip and the train arrived at 4:40 o'clock with five coaches and a baggage car from Fulton. Five cars were added here. The train will start back this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, arriving about midnight.

"We are trying again," stated Virge Berry, a member of the committee appointed by Illinois Central shop employees to confer with the Illinois Central officials and arrange, if possible, to have an annual picnic, and have written a second letter to officials asking for privilege of giving the picnic. We believe that the rush of business has detracted attention from our efforts, and hope to hear from officials immediately. The employees desire to give the picnic before August 8.

Switch engine, No. 172, Engineer Collins Lloyd, struck a caboose at Eleventh street and Broadway Saturday night early and turned it nearly over. The switch engine was working with a string of cars and the caboose was not in the caboose.

V. B. Nelson was in the caboose and jostled about roughly, his head being bruised. Nelson was not seriously injured, however, and the caboose was but slightly damaged.

Mr. Sam Craig, the Illinois Central carman, went to Kuttawa this morning to work on had order cars.

Eighth of August.

Railroad officials look for the biggest Eighth of August patronage in the history of the road this year, and are making every preparation to handle the large crowds. Last year false reports were started which rapidly spread and caused many who would have come to Paducah to celebrate the day, to remain away. This year the railroad and local colored committees have precluded all possibility of an interference in this way by circulars and the assurance that every protection be given excursionists on trains and in the city while here.

Nine special trains composed of 98 coaches will be run into Paducah, and already preparations are being made to handle them. An augmented force of special agents will be employed by the Illinois Central and every available coach is being pressed into service. Excursions will be run into Paducah over the Illinois Central from Louisville, Central City, Owensboro, Evansville, Covington, Fulton, Cairo and Memphis.

Tinners Busy.

Local Illinois Central tinner were put on an extra job for the week. They are to make several hundred tin cups to place on the excursion trains.

Thieves broke into a tool car of the Illinois Central at Maxon Mills, and stole clothing yesterday.

BLOOMER GIRLS MADE 'EM NERVOUS

And Independents Gallantly Lost First Game

They Got Even Yesterday and Kept the Girls Chasing Flies in the Hot Sun.

SCORES IN THE BIG LEAGUES.

The Boston Bloomer Girls, said to be the fastest female baseball aggregation on the road, broke even with John Hollan's Independents in two games played here Saturday and Sunday. Fast ball playing on both sides gave fans all the baseball they wanted, and the excitement at times was high strung and recalled big league baseball.

Sunday the Independents won by a score of 7 to 3. The game started out nip and tuck. The girls failed to find Arnold and it was goose eggs on both sides until the fifth inning when the locals took a batting streak and ran in 6 scores. Pitchers were changed by the girls, but with little better results. The locals continued to bat the sphere all over the field, but the girls showed excellent work in the field and prevented any more wholesale scoring. One or two errors on both sides marked the game, but taking it all in all, the game was fast and well played throughout.

The grand stand was packed, several hundred women being in attendance. Cheering was deafening at times, being about equally divided, and it brought back recollections of league ball.

From Paducah the girls will go to Metropolis to play the team of that place, traveling on the steamer Nellie.

Saturday's Game.

Saturday the girls beat the locals by a score of 13 to 4. "Dutch" Dicke pitched and did well, but the team behind him felt nervous and did not give support, making error after error on easy plays. The girls showed excellent team work and held out fast, making sensational plays as the local batted and fumbled. The grand stand was well filled and the game financially a success.

Just to see how things look at night, the United States light house tender, Golden Rod, Captain H. M. Horton in command, left this morning for the Tennessee river on an observation trip. No inspector is aboard and no inspections will be made, but the lights along the river will be observed at night to see how the tenders are minding their business. This is an annual trip for the Golden Rod to make in these waters at this time of the year. The Golden Rod arrives Sunday from the Ohio river and coaled here at the St. Bernard Coal company's docks.

The Hosmer, harbor boat of the Ayer-Lord Tie company, Captain Thomas Prewitt in command, and Sam Reeves, engineer, made the record run from Brookport last week. The Hosmer brought seven big barges from Brookport in one hour and thirty-five minutes. It is two miles up stream.

The J. B. Richardson, of the Ryman line, will arrive Wednesday from Nashville to lay up at Paducah. The Richardson will be open for any engagements in the excursion line, and Captain Bob Crider, well known here as a former captain on the Dick Fowler, will be in charge. The Richardson should get plenty of excursion business during this hot weather.

The Bob Dudley will come out in place of the Dunbar Wednesday and hereafter weekly trips every Wednesday instead of Monday, will be made.

When the Buttorff is seen again in Paducah there will be exclamations of delight, as the entire upper work of the boat is being rebuilt at Nashville. Last year almost a new hull was built under the Buttorff at the ways and the work now being done will make it a new boat.

The dapper little steamer George Cowling ran against the railroad incline at Brookport and damaged the stem of that boat. This afternoon the Cowling will be pulled out on the ways and it is expected to get things in shape for tomorrow afternoon's regular trip.

Looking better than she ever has, the Nellie had steam up this morning to get back in the business of towing logs. The Nellie was put into the river from the dry docks Saturday. The C. M. Pate will be off tomorrow morning and will return to Nashville.

The Chattanooga arrived Sunday from Chattanooga with a fine passenger trip and a heavy load of lumber. Some of the passengers went down to Cairo this morning on the Dick Fowler and some went to Evansville on the Joe Fowler. The Chattanooga will leave for Chattanooga Wednesday or Thursday.

The Castalia of the Ayer-Lord fleet went to Mound City this morning after ties. Captain Billy Smith is in command and Walter Simpson, formerly of the De Koven, is in the engine room.

The Inverness will arrive from the Cumberland river, and the Pavana will arrive from the Tennessee river this evening with ties for the Ayer-Lord Tie company.

The stage here now, 16.7, is fine for this time of the year and follows a rise of 1.2 in the last 48 hours. The stage on July 22 last year was 11.2.

The Harth has gone to the Caseyville mines after coal for the West Kentucky Coal company.

The Lydia did not get away until today for the Cumberland river after ties.

Both St. Louis-Tennessee river packets were here Sunday, the Saltillo arriving at 8 o'clock in the light all winter.

morning from St. Louis and the Savannah arriving at noon from the Tennessee river. They switched and left here with big trips in passengers and freight.

The Blueport is in from the Tennessee river with ties and is unloading at Joppa today.

The Clyde will come out of the Tennessee river tonight as usual with a big trip. Captain Wright takes command next trip, relieving Major Ashcraft.

With the passenger list augmented by excursionists from the Chattanooga, the Dick Fowler left on time this morning for Cairo and will return at 8 o'clock tonight.

The Joe Fowler arrived Sunday from Evansville and gave its passengers plenty of time to see the city. At 11 o'clock this morning, the Joe Fowler left for Evansville.

Captain F. Gent said this morning that he would leave with his showboat this week for the Mississippi river on another trip in the floating theater business. He has sold the Gertie M., a small gasoline boat to a southern company.

The Nellie with the Bloomer girls left last night for down-river points. The river boys, who saw the games, said the girls could play ball.

The village of Elm, in the canton of Glarus, Switzerland, is so surrounded by mountains that it has no sunbills arriving at 8 o'clock in the light all winter.

We have several good driving horses for sale at reasonable prices and will guarantee them as represented. Call and see them.

MOVE ON!—MOVE ON!!

We Have Been Doing Police Duty in Every Department
All Laggards and Loiterers Given the "Move On"—"Move On" Sign

WE must be custodians of our own stock—we must compel tag-ends, oddments and endments to "move on." No loitering—no delaying—no untimely staying. Goods must "move on" in this store, stagnation is the death of trade.

No inert, torpid, lazy stocks here. When lines become broken—when pieces dwindle to remnants—when odds and ends crop up, they are not allowed to accumulate. We get busy doing police duty.

We go after them with the big stick and prices are radically and effectively lowered.

What is the natural result? What happens to seasonable, desirable, fashionable goods when they are priced far below regular? They "move on" and they move at a pretty lively gait, too.

These are the facts of the story we have to tell today—but the figures are the interesting part of it.

Remember, it's time for all summer goods to go—fall goods are pushing them from behind. They must "move on." Remember all sorts of oddments and endments of staple lines have received "move on" orders and will leave in triple-quick time.

Movement Began Today, July 22, and Lasts One Week

JUDGE HARGIS' VINDICATION.

That stalwart Democrat, Judge Jim Hargis, has been vindicated. No accusation of murder now sullies his fair name. The only matter resting against the Honorable Jim is a joint obligation of some $8,000, due Mrs. Marcum on a judgment rendered in her favor as indemnity for the assassination of her husband. But, if the killing of Marcum was worth anything, it was worth $8,000, and whatever costs and expenses attach to the various legal proceedings growing out of that and the Cox transaction.

The ways of Judge Jim's vindication have been devious and sundry. The last taint of suspicion against him was cleared by the appointment of a special judge, who removed the trial court to Elliott county, where a jury could not be secured, nor could the attendance of the state's witnesses. Under these circumstances the prosecution declined to proceed with the trial as ordered by the special judge appointed to try the case, and thus were the ends of justice forced.

Our sympathy goes out to Judge Jim. He has been sorely tried, but his party loyalty has never wavered, and, in very truth, he has not been deserted in his hour of peril. There was nothing in all these cases against him but Democratic factional politics. Of course, it is remarkable that such a mysterious fate should overtake an Indiana Jim's bitterest political opponents; but the suddenness and violence of their taking off, merely demonstrated that the mild-mannered Judge Jim did not choose his friends from among those bad men, whose mode of death manifested the quarrelsomeness of their dispositions.

On the other hand, it was unfortunate that some of Judge Jim's political heelers should have confessed their guilt, and Judge Jim's complicity, and exhibited such huge rolls of money shortly after the demise of Judge Jim's opponents. They assuredly were merely taking advantage of Judge Jim's ill-timed generosity; and his innocence and gentleness of spirit point the finger of scorn at the idea of convicting such a stalwart partisan, on such flimsy evidence.

Feeling sure concerning Judge Jim's innocence, as we do, we almost wish he had been granted a fair trial in the Cox case; for evil-minded persons will always be ready to point out the circumstances of his vindication as an indication of connivance at his acquittal. However, with his prestige restored and the political integrity of Breathitt county once more assured, let us hope that the same untoward fate does not overtake any more of Judge Jim's political enemies; because it looks bad—mighty bad.

Meanwhile Japan plays her hand pretty well. The Japs have learned a trick or two in the international game since Russia robbed them of the fruits of their victory over the Chinese. It will be Uncle Sam, who keeps the little brown man's hands off Manchuria.

It was a providential thought, sending 300 pounds of editorial clippings on the subject of universal peace from America to The Hague conference; but couldn't its authors have found a happier title for the compilation than a "scrap book"?

William Jennings Bryan has retired the railroad ownership issue. It is premature, he says. That's the trouble with all the Democratic issues, they are either premature or obsolete. While the Democratic party has been viewing new national projects with alarm, the Republican party has protected American enterprise to the extent that the whole world is under industrial subjection to us; standardized the monetary system; brought order out of chaos in the Philippines; promoted the prosperity of Porto Rico; made friends with South America; and enacted laws to regulate the trusts, interstate commerce, and the food products of the country. And yet, we would not belittle the uses of the national Democratic party. It is the drag, which prevents too precipitate action on the part of the majority party.

Unnatural quiet has attended the preparations for the Beveridge nuptials. Perhaps, the senior senator from Indiana himself intends writing up the wedding for the Saturday Evening Post.

Be it understood that when we speak of Mr. Ed Leigh, secretary to Governor Beckham, being a veteran editor, we refer, not to his age, but his length of service.

STATES OF CENTRAL AMERICA.

Very few people have a correct impression of the size of Central America as a whole, or of its states, taken separately. California seems like a large state. It extends 770 miles along the Pacific and has an extreme width of 375 miles. If California were laid end for end on Central America, it would cover it with the exception of San Salvador, which is just the size of New Jersey, and occupies a little over 7,000 square miles. Stated in another way, if Central America were lifted bodily and laid down on our Atlantic coast, it would just hide all New England. New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, in short, it has a combined area of approximately 167,000 square miles. Individually, aside from Salvador, already mentioned, the states could be compared as follows: Honduras to Pennsylvania, 45,000 square miles; Guatemala to Mississippi, 47,000; Nicaragua to New York, 49,000; Costa Rica to Vermont and New Hampshire, 18,000.—Review of Reviews.

Nunda, Mich., July 22.—Henry Scutcheon, a farmer about 50 years of age, living near this village, today ran amuck with an axe, killing his invalid son, 13 years old, his wife and her foster father, George Anning. Scutcheon was later shot by Henry McClellan, a neighbor, whom the crazed murderer also attacked.

MORE WARRANTS FOR HUGH BOYLE

Will Result From His Continuance, Says Chief

Hearing in Police Court Postponed on Account of Injunction in Circuit Court.

THEO. PETERS IS ARRESTED

Hugh Boyle, charged with selling liquor without a license, was presented in police court this morning and his case continued. Boyle's case is singular and may cause a long legal fight. He was fined in the police court for selling liquor on Sunday and Mayor Yeiser revoked his license and a notice that an injunction suit would be filed was served on the mayor. Later Boyle filed an injunction in circuit court, which was formally served on the mayor, temporarily restraining him from revoking the license. It is understood the case was continued this morning until after Tuesday when Circuit Judge William Reed will pass on the injunction issued against Mayor Yeiser. Boyle is still operating his saloon.

Chief Collins said today he will swear out a warrant against Boyle for every day he operates. Attorneys for the defense are said to have told Chief Collins he is liable to suit on his bond for interfering with Boyle, pending the injunction, to which the chief responded that he would indemnify his bondsmen for all loss of that kind.

Warrants for Peters.

Two warrants charging Theobald Peters with retailing liquor without a license at his restaurant, Eleventh street and Broadway, were sworn out today and he will be tried in the police court tomorrow. Peters was arrested once before for the same offense. The last general council refused to issue licenses for saloons at the Broadway crossing on account of the crowds alleged to congregate there, and which school girls had to pass going to school.

Secretary Bunn, of Manufacturers' Association, Visits This City Today.

NEW STEAMBOAT IS PADUCAH

Assurance that he would use his influence to have the new packet of the Chattanooga Packet company named "Paducah" was given this afternoon by Mr. E. G. Riggs, traffic manager of that line, who is in the city for two days on business. Mr. Riggs said the original suggestion that the new boat be named for this city came from Mr. Lee Livingston, of Livingston Bros., wholesale grocers. With Mr. Riggs on this trip are Mr. O. L. Bunn, secretary of the Chattanooga Manufacturers' association, and Mr. G. M. Price, of the New Etna Coal company, of Chattanooga, one of the largest coal companies in the south. Mr. Bunn's association represents $20,000,000 capital.

"Captain H. W. Horton, of the United States steamer Golden Rod, told me yesterday," said Mr. Riggs, "that there are but two river towns left in the country, and that they are Paducah and Memphis." Three more enthusiastic men over Paducah as a commercial center and with a matchless geographical location, could not be found than Messrs. Riggs, Bunn and Price.

"I can say," said Mr. Bunn, "that Paducah enjoys the finest freight rates of any city in the south. The rivers are responsible and numerous cases have arisen in my work where manufacturers in the south could have saved large sums by locating in Paducah. Your Commercial club could use that advantage to good results."

POLICE CHANGES.

Chief Collins Makes Order for Relief of Patrolmen.

Hot weather has told on Paducah policemen, and to relieve the situation a changeup in the hours of patrolmen was inaugurated this morning by Chief of Police James Collins and will be maintained until the weather gets cooler. Heretofore the policemen have been working from 12 at noon until 12 at night. Those who went off duty at noon were unable to sleep in the hot afternoon, and were unfit for duty when time came to report. Chief Collins changed the watch from 6 in the morning to 6 in the evening. Patrolman Ernest Hill was made an emergency man. He is stationed on day duty at the city hall to go out whenever there is a call for the patrol wagon so that patrolmen may keep on their beats. Hill brings all prisoners to the hall.

FOOT SLIPPED AND HIS TOES WERE ALL MANGLED.

D. Hutchens was brought to the railroad hospital this morning from Little Cypress with his feet badly mangled. Hutchens is a flagman on the pile driver at Little Cypress and this morning at 8 o'clock he slipped and his feet went on the track and before he could remove them, the toes were run over and mangled. Dr. E.

R. Goodloe, of Little Cypress, was called and dressed the injury, and accompanied him to the hospital here. This afternoon Hutchens was resting comfortably and will be able to be out on crutches in a short time.

Directors of Gregory Heights.

Directors of the Gregory Heights company were carried over the new line of the traction company Saturday in accordance with the original plan of running the first car July 29. The line will not be thrown open to the public until the suburban property is ready to be put on the market.

Pearls vs. Cotton Blossoms.

The Pearls defeated the Cotton Blossoms for the shower of blessing.

Blossoms by a score of 5 to 4 Sunday. The Pearls have played 16 games this season and lost but one. Dunlap pitched yesterday and did good work. The game was saved for the Pearls by a home run made by Burton, left fielder.

Damages Railroads.

Sparta, Wis., July 22.—A heavy storm washed out several hundred feet of the Sparta and Viroqua railroad near Cashton, near Melvin, and the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway at Sparta. No trains will be able to pass Sparta until Monday.

The pulpit often mistakes the thunder for the shower of blessing.

SAWING WOOD

In the language of the poet—"we're sawing wood."

While other stores are advertising "Unparalleled inducements," "Stupendous bargains," "Clothes at heart-breaking prices," etc., etc., we keep right on "sawing wood" and giving our patrons the best of Clothing, Hats and Toggery at fair, honest, live and let live prices.

"We've no 'Clothes for a song,' or '$20 Suits for $1.98.'"

We have got the best $10.00, $12.50, $15.00 or $20.00 Suits in town or out of town.

People believe in this store and we saw wood every day.

STRUCK SLEEPER

And Passengers Were Frightened by the Crash.

A crash, shattering windows, frightened sleeping passengers on passenger train No. 104, of the Illinois Central Sunday morning between 1 and 2 o'clock at the Union station. A collision was caused by a striking of "kone" taking the switch wrong. Engineer Collins Lloyd, on switch engine No. 172, was pushing a string of 45 empty coal cars around the curve leading to the station. He was in the south yards with his engine when the first car reached the main switch at the station platform. Through a confusion of switchmen the switch was taken wrong and instead of going into the No. 2 track, the cars took the No. 1 track, the main line, and crashed into the passenger train. No one was injured, and the sleeper was not damaged sufficiently to be taken out of service.

SWALLOWS CHLOROFORM AND COMES NEAR DYING.

In an effort to get ease from pain, Jesse Hall, of Horse Branch, drank one-half ounce of chloroform Sunday night about 8 o'clock at his home and for a time was in a dangerous condition. From information Hall had been treated with chloroform and thought a big dose would cure him. Doctors were called and an emetic given and he was brought to the railroad hospital here. He was in the hospital here last week, but escaped and became ill again and took the chloroform to ease the pain. Today he is resting well at the hospital.

Farm Work for Women.

For various reasons, one of which is that farmers' wives and daughters have all the work they can do in the house at harvest time, it is not likely that women will ever do much outside farm labor except in emergency. At the same time it must be said that the old arguments against it will not hold. It is no heavier work than that of ironing and is far more healthful than bending over the sewing machine day in and day out. Yet these occupations are regarded as strictly feminine and no protest is ever raised against them save by women themselves now and then. The exertion is no greater than is called for by gardening, which is constantly being recommended to women by physicians as a means of building up their health; nor does it call for greater physical exertion than golf, or make them more weatherbeaten. Though women are not likely to engage in such work extensively it is not without while to lift the hands in horror at the thought of their doing so.—Indianapolis Star.

Magill Case Contains Suspicious Circumstances Hard to Explain

Clinton, Ill., July 22.—The Magill murder mystery deepens. Possessing the elements of the tragic and unusual, the crime, if such it was, does not yield readily to investigation. Today the authorities were as far as in their efforts to solve the riddle as they were when the cry of "murder" first went up, says the Record-Herald.

Every hour, however, adds to the interest in the strange case. Every hour seemingly brings to light some new bit of circumstantial evidence which is claimed either by the state or defense as favoring one side or the other. As these new stories spread about the people of Clinton alternately exclaim, "Fred Magill was a fiend incarnate," or, on the other hand, "Why, Pet Magill committed suicide after all, and Fred had nothing to do with it."

But whether murder by the hand, or, in plain language, provable, demonstrable murder, it is difficult to say. If murder by hand, Fred Magill administered some powerful drug to his wife. She quickly passed away. He carried the body to the spare room of their home, laid it on the bed, arranged the chloroform setting—the bowl containing saturated cotton and the wet cloth—and left it in a position clearly pointing to self-destruction.

The rest was comparatively easy. The doctors were called. They viewed the remains, saw the bowl and smelled the cloth. The heart was still. The woman beyond doubt had taken her own life. She had a weak heart, anyway, and even a small amount of chloroform would kill her. Then the verdict, "Death due to heart disease, superinduced by chloroform."

Wife Driven to Suicide.

If murder of the other kind—the kind that a man in love with a young and pretty girl might resort to in himself of his wife, the circumstances are equally interesting. Here was Fred Magill, bon vivant, pampered son of wealthy parents; a runabout, a flirt—here he was falling desperately in love with Fay Graham, a pretty stenographer hardly out of her teens. The wife commits suicide. At this stage any investigator is likely to ramble off into the field of guess work and romance. To sum up, then, the actual circumstances against Fred Magill; to remove the case from the realm of the visionary, the following should be held in mind:

"Fred Magill has been a loose man morally, for years, if his friends are to be believed.

"He has run through two fortunes: one of some $200,000 and another of about a fourth that sum."

Fortunes Are Dissipated.
"He did not lose this money through foolish investments in speculation, but he threw it away in alleged dissipation.

"He was almost constantly making himself agreeable to some woman other than his wife.

"His infidelity, if really it amounted to that, was the talk of the town.

"He was a hard drinker.

"His influence over his wife, Pet Gandy Magill, was almost uncanny in its power.

"He caused her to explain and make light of his escapades.

"His action in marrying Miss Graham within one month after Pet Magill's death is significant.

"The letters, five of one kind, left by the dead woman, indicate a remarkable state of mind, a surrender of pride and self-esteem almost beyond belief.

Yields All to Rival.
"These letters virtually yielded to her rival the place Pet Magill had held in the heresy of her romance with her husband.

"They even begged the man and the girl to marry and to love one another; they asked the girl to look after Marguerite, daughter of Fred and Pet Magill.

"These letters remain in the possession of the accused man, who is now en route to Clinton, under Sheriff Campbell's care, and the state's attorney's chief purpose just now is to secure them and prove them forgeries.

"The letters were seen by several persons before Fred Magill hurried from Clinton three weeks ago, and it is said by two or three observers who knew Pet Magill's handwriting that the chirography was not hers."

NEWS NOTES FROM SUNDAY PAPERS.

The lie was passed between counsel for and against W. D. Haywood on trial at Boise Idaho, during the argument by J. H. Hawley, of the prosecution. At one point during Hawley's speech, Clarence Darrow, counsel for the defense, interrupted Hawley with the charge that he had made a false statement. Hawley replied saying that Darrow had uttered a deliberate falsehood. Hawley reviewed the testimony of Orchard and urged that a case had been made against the defendant.

To stimulate the purchase and shipment of coal during the summer months, when the greatest number of cars for this purpose are available, the interstate commerce commission, at the request of the Union Pacific railroad and the Oregon Short Line, has especially authorized a reduction of twenty-five cents a ton on coal shipped to Washington, Idaho and Nevada between July 19 and September 1.

It is stated at Princeton that ex-President Cleveland, who has an attack of acute indigestion a few weeks ago, has not recovered from it as soon as expected. It is hoped now that he will be able to go to his summer home in New Hampshire by August 1.

Kentucky jailers are preparing to ask the next general assembly to enact a law providing for the electrocution of condemned men in the penitentiary. There is an almost unanimous objection to the method of hanging doomed men in the various counties.

Mottos, framed and glazed, calling attention of police and firemen to the fact that the statutes forbid their active interest in politics, are to be hung in every engine house and police station in Louisville by order of the board of public safety.

NEGRO IS LYNCHED BY BLACKS.
Body Thrown Into River Where Slain Woman's Corpse Was Found.

Olive Branch, Miss., July 22.—Thirty negroes today lynched Andrew Trice, colored. Trice was charged with the murder of Susan Williams. The lynchers, after killing him, threw his body into the river at the same spot where the woman's corpse was found.

Work Instead of Workhouse.
Toledo, O., July 22.—The Toledo workhouse soon may become tenantless as the result of the plan now being put in force by Judge Stewart, of the police court, for supplying good jobs to all persons convicted of minor crimes instead of imposing a workhouse term on them.

As the demand for labor in Toledo now exceeds the supply and the contractors and business men have entered into the justice's plan with a will there is no need for an able bodied man to remain in idleness in the city.

When a man is picked up by the police on a charge of vagrancy, begging, train ride stealing or any other misdemeanor, and is arraigned before Judge Stewart, his story is heard and then his trade is found.

The judge glances over the list of positions waiting to be filled, which is furnished him by the business men interested in the idea, and offers the prisoner the choice between a job at good pay or the workhouse.

Thirty prisoners have chosen the work proposition since the plan was begun two weeks ago.

ANTI-JUG LAW

NO GOOD, SAYS CIRCUIT JUDGE AT CHATTANOOGA.

Express Company Must Carry Liquor Into Dry Counties and Towns Hereafter.

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 22.—As a result of an opinion rendered Saturday by Judge M. M. Allison, of the circuit court, in the case of the Crescent Liquor company vs. the Southern Express company, for damages, the anti-jug ordinances of the various towns in the state are rendered null and void, unless the supreme court reverses his decision. The case was brought by the liquor company on the refusal of the express company to handle whisky into Rockwood owing to the ordinance passed by that town prohibiting the shipment of any intoxicating liquors into the corporate limits. This was a test case brought under the failure to secure a mandatory injunction in chancery to compel the company to handle the shipment into Rockwood, and was upon an agreed statement of facts.

MAY WRITE ON BOTH SIDES OF POSTALS AFTER AUG. 1.

After August 1 messages may be written on both sides of postal cards, and Postmaster General Meyer has decided one-third of the face, in addition to the back, may be utilized for a message as the writer desires. The postal regulations were amended several months ago so that post cards might be written on the face, a privilege having long since been granted by foreign countries. But in the regulations no provision was made for the postal card. In order to make the order uniform the postmaster general issued the order that after August 1 the face side of the postal card may be divided by a vertical approximately one-third of the distance from the left end. The address will occupy the part of the card to the right, and the message the left.

Kingston, Jamaica, July 22.—The seriousness of the famine in Eastern Jamaica, caused by the eight months drought, is increasing. The crops have been destroyed and there is a great loss of cattle. CHAPTER XX.
PHILIP was thrown into the sea on a Tuesday. Jocky Mason reached London on Wednesday and kept his appointment with Inspector Bradley on Thursday evening.

The inspector received him graciously, thus chasing from the ex-convict's mind a lurking suspicion that matters were awry. There is a curious sympathy between the police and well known criminals. They meet with friendliness and exchange pleasantries, as a watch dog might fraternize with a wolf in off hours.

But Mason had no responsive smile or ready reply.

"What's up?" he demanded morosely. "You sent for me. Here I am, I would have brought my ticket sooner if you hadn't written."

"All right, Mason. Keep your wool on. Do you remember Superintendent Robinson?"

"Him? That was Inspector in White-chapel when I was put away? Rather."

"Well, some friends of yours have been inquiring from him as to your whereabouts. He sent a message round, and I promised that you should meet them if you showed up. I was half afraid you had bolted to the States."

"Friends! I have no friends."

"Oh, yes, you have—very dear friends, indeed."

"Then where are they?"

He glared around the roomy police office, but it was only tenanted by policemen attending to various books or chatting quietly across a huge counter. His surly attitude did not diminish the inspector's kindness.

"Don't be so doubtful on that point, Mason. Have you no children?"

Something in the police officer's eyes gave the man a glow. His swarthy face flushed and his hands clenched.

"Yes," he said huskily, "I left two boys. Their mother died. They were lost. I have looked for them every-where."

Inspector Bradley pointed to a door. "Go into that room," he said quietly, "and you will find them. They are waiting there for you."

Mason crossed the matted floor like one walking in his sleep. He experienced no emotion. He was a man stunned for the nonce.

He opened the door of the waiting room and entered cautiously. He might have expected a hoax, a jest, from his sample.

Two stalwart young men were standing there talking. Their chat ceased as he appeared. For an appreciable time father and sons looked at each other with the curiosity of strangers.

He knew them first. He saw himself, no less than their unfortunate and suffering mother, in their erect figures, the contour of their pleasant faces.

To them he was unknown. The eldest boy was ten years old, the younger eight, when they last met. But they read a message in the man's hungry eyes, and they were the first to break the suspense.

"Father?" cried John.

The other boy sprang to him without a word.

He took them in his arms. He was choked. From some buried font came long forgotten tears. He murmured their names, but not a coherent sentence could he utter.

They were splendid fellows, he thought, so tall and well knit, so nice mannered, so thoroughly overjoyed to meet him.

That was the best of it. They had sought him voluntarily. They knew his record and were not ashamed to own him. During the long days and nights of ceaseless inquiry he was ever tormented by the dread lest his children, if living, should look on him as accursed, a blot on their existence.

He half hoped that he might discover them in some vile slum, where crime was hallowed and convicts were heroes. He never pictured them as honest, well meaning youths, sons of whom any father might be proud, for in that possibility lurked the gnawing terror of shame and repudiation.

Mason's heart was full. He could not thank God for his mercy. That resource of poor humanity was denied him, and, to his credit be it said, he was no hypocrite.

His seared soul awoke to softer feelings, as his eyes, his ears, his very heart, drank in fuller knowledge of them, but he was tormented in his joy by an agonized pang of remorse. Oh, that he could have met them with hands free from further crime!

In some vague way he felt that his punishment for Philip Anson's death would be meted out by a sterner justice than the law of the land. He was too hard a man to yield instantly. He crushed back the rising flood of horror that threatened to overwhelm him in this moment of happiness. He forced himself again to answer their anxious inquiries, to note their little airs of manliness and self reliance, to see with growing wonder that they were well dressed and wore spottless linen.

A police station was no place for confidences. Indeed both boys were awed by their surroundings.

They passed into the outer office, and Mason went to thank Inspector Bradley.

"Don't forget your ticket," whispered the pleased officer.

The reminder jarred, but it was unavoidable. Mason got his ticket in dorsed, the lads looking on shyly the while, and the three regained the freedom of the street.

"Let us find some place to sit down and have a drink," suggested Mason.

"No, father," said John, with a frank smile. "Neither of us takes drink. Come home with us. We have a room ready for you."

"I have lodgings?"

"You can go there tomorrow and get your belongings."

"Yes. Jump into this cab," urged Willie. "We live in Westminster. It is not very far."

Mason was fascinated by the boys' pleasant assumption of authority. They spoke like young gentlemen, with the accent that betokens a good education. He yielded without a protest.

They sat three abreast in a hansom, and the vehicle scurried off toward the Westminster bridge road.

Mason was in the center. His point on lean over the closed doors of the cab, but he turned his head with interested eagerness as one or other of his sons addressed him.

"I suppose, father, you are wondering how we came to meet in such a place," said John.

"It might puzzle me if I found time to think."

"Well, the superintendent arranged everything. Unfortunately, he was away on his holidays when—we were released—or we would have met you then, and his deputy was not aware of the circumstances. As soon as the superintendent returned he wrote to the governor and was very much annoyed to find that you had slipped away in the meantime."

"He wouldn't be so annoyed if he was there himself," growled Mason good humoredly.

"Oh, John didn't mean that, father," broke in Willie. "The annoyance was his and ours. You see, we had not known very long where you were. We didn't even know you were alive."

"Of course, of course. Somebody has been looking after you well. That's clear enough. They wouldn't be always telling a pair of boys that their father was in Portland."

"It gave us such a shock when we heard the truth," said downright John. "But we were so glad to hear that our father was living and that we should soon see him," explained the younger.

"When did you hear first?"

"About four months ago. Just before we took our present situations. We are soldiers and ornamental leather workers. Between us we earn quite a decent living. Don't we, John?"

"In fifteen weeks we have saved enough to pay for half our furniture besides keeping ourselves well. There's plenty to eat, dad. You won't starve, big as you are."

"They all laughed. The cab was passing St. Thomas' hospital. Across the bridge a noble prospect met their eyes. London had a glamour for Mason that night it never held before."

"So Robinson wrote to Bradley, knowing that I would report myself to-day, and Bradley arranged?"

"Who is Robinson, father?" interrupted John.

"The superintendent, to be sure. He used to be inspector at Whitechapel."

"He is not the man we mean. We are talking of Mr. Giles, superintendent of the Mary Anson home."

The two boys felt their father's start of dismay, of positive fright. They wondered what had happened to give him such a shock. Peering at him sideways from the corners of the hansom, they could see the quick pallor of his swarthy face.

"You forget, John," put in the eldest.

William, "that father knows as little about our lives as we know about his until very recently. When we reach our dad we must begin at the beginning and tell him everything."

"There isn't much to tell," cried John. "When poor mother died we were taken care of by a gentleman whom Mr. Philip asked to look after us. When the Mary Anson home was built we were among the first batch of inmates. If ever a young man has done good in this world, it is Mr. Philip Anson. See what he did for us. Mother was nursed and tended with the utmost kindness, but her life could not be saved. We were rescued from the workhouse, taught well and fed well and given such instruction in a first class trade that even at our age we can earn $5 a week between us. TIE CARRIERS

GET MORE MONEY FOR UNLOADING AT BROOKPORT.

Nearly All the Money Distributed Here—Four Million Handled Across the River.

She Ayer & Lord Tie company on Saturday raised the price of unloading ties at Brookport from one cent to one and one-half cents per tie, and decided to raise the tie carriers on steamboats from one cent to one and one-quarter cents, the reason for the difference in the unloading at Brookport and the loading of the ties on the steamboats being that the loading of the steamboats is easier and the tie carrier gets his board and bed.

Labor such as this is scarce, and the Ayer & Lord Tie company feels the need of more labor, and is willing to pay the price. This means a benefit to Paducah and Brookport, as almost all of this money is distributed at these points—Paducah getting the bulk of it.

The Ayer & Lord Tie company tow 4,000,000 ties annually to Paducah, which are unloaded at Brookport.

There is a greater variety of fish in this water than anywhere else, and they are always hungry. No one ever counted the fish in the Georgian Bay, but those that have been caught there have been counted and eaten, and if you read the government reports, on fisheries, you know that Georgian Bay supplies more fish than any other equal body of water in the world. The only place you can afford to fish is where the fish are numerous, big and delicious in flavor, and that place is Georgian Bay—so the fishermen say. MAKING OVER MAP OF THE FAR EAST

Japan's Movements in Korea of Special Interest

Europe Is Passive in the Face of the Most Significant Movement in Orient.

KOREA IS JAPS' WAR PRIZE.

London, July 22.—A chapter in the world's history of deepest significance is being written in the far east. All Europe is watching the development of events with the keenest interest. Reports from Seoul show that a large number of persons were killed there yesterday in the struggle between the Koreans and the Japanese. Soldiers are mutinying. An attempt was made to murder the entire cabinet, and there is not one minister whose life is safe.

The people are demanding death to every Japanese in the country, and the killing has begun on a large scale. Meanwhile Japan is rushing troops into the country and is preparing to pour a rain of shot from machine guns into the mobs, to complete the work of subjugation of the ancient empire.

No accurate estimate of the number of dead has been given in the dispatches, but it is known that it is large. The greater part of the number consists of Japanese.

May Being Made Over.

Although the powers realize that Japan is doing boldly what no other nation has dared to do, in disturbing the integrity of the Orient by the confiscation of Korea, Europe is passive. While it is evident that the complexion of the map of the eastern hemisphere is being changed, the situation is such that no protest has been made. England, as Japan's ally, is content to view the situation complacently, for the time at least. The other powers are in such a position that they cannot well act, even should they desire to do so.

Students of world's politics believe that, whatever the outcome of the struggle now going on between a weak nation and a strong one, Korea never will be able to shake off the relentless grip of the mikado. At present the unrest is confined largely to Seoul, but when, in a few days, the story of the emperor's abdication becomes known throughout the country, the struggle may develop into a national uprising against Japan as the bully of the East. The Korean troops are discontented with the turn which affairs have taken. The people as a whole have been ill at ease ever since Japan's heavy hand has been felt. In the event that the country rises against the mikado, Japan doubtless will pour in troops by the thousand, and, though blood flow freely and many fall in battle, Japan in the end must be master.

The conquest at Korea is regarded as one of Japan's prizes of her war with Russia, while the Japanese representatives in Korea protest that the emperor's abdication was none of their doing.

Cured Lung Trouble.

"It is now eleven years since I had a narrow escape from consumption," writes C. O. Floyd, a leading business man of Kershaw, S. C. "I had run down in weight to 125 pounds, and coughing was constant, both by day and by night. Finally I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery, and continued this for about six months, when my cough and lung trouble were entirely gone and I was restored to my normal weight, 170 pounds." Thousands of persons are healed every year. Guaranteed at all druggists. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

Care of Shoes.

An excellent preservative of shoe leather is vasoline. If a small quantity be applied to new shoes it will soften the leather, and if emulsified leather, will keep it soft much longer than ordinarily and render it less liable to crack.

If worn shoes are cleaned and blackened, and then rubbed with the vasoline, their appearance and wearing qualities will be much improved. Have a box of oats handy and when the shoes are taken off remove all mud and dirt, lace or button them, fill half full with oats and stuff the tops with crumbled paper.

When necessary to wear the shoes empty them and they will be found to have kept their shape, and will not be drawn if they were in the least damp when taken off—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Getting on in the World.
I never saved a dollar which I was not prompted to save as a matter of common sense. If a man assumes the duty of working he can not shrink the responsibility of saving. He has not worked sanely if he has not saved a fair percentage of his earnings.
For he must spend a fair percentage of that which he earns. The "best citizen" cannot be measured by what he saves, regardless of his duty to spend. But he owes himself, his family, his friend, and the community in which he lives a sane measure of saving.
Long hours at so much of the work of the world is not a virtue in the worker per se. It may suggest only his weakness. To do a man's work in the shortest day possible should be a young man's aim. Then let him learn to do more than the one task that is set before him. This is education and growth. This is a move toward success.—John J. Mitchell, president Illinois Trust and Savings Bank, in Chicago Tribune.

MINISTERS LEAVE

MANY ARE GOING ON THEIR ANNUAL VACATIONS.

Where They Will Spend Their Month of Relaxation—Sunday School Picnic.

August will see most of the pastors of the churches in the city on their vacations. The Rev. Calvin M. Thompson, of the First Baptist church, and family, will leave Wednesday for Indianapolis and after a visit there will go to Newark, Ohio, where they will remain until the first week in September. In the meanwhile the pulpit will be filled by visiting ministers and the regular services will be held. Last night the Rev. Gordon W. Hill, of Louisville, preached.

The Rev. W. E. Cave, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, will leave next Monday for the Jamestown exposition and from there will spend the remainder of the summer visiting relatives in Virginia.

The Rev. J. R. Henry, pastor of the Kentucky Avenue Presbyterian church, will leave some time in August, but he has not decided upon the place to spend his vacation.

The Rev. W. T. Bolling, of the Broadway Methodist church, will leave August 5 for Columbus, Miss., where he will be chaplain of the state guards during the encampment of the state troops. He will be gone probably two weeks.

District Conference. Representatives of the Paducah Methodist churches will go to Clinton tomorrow to attend the district conference Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

Broken Jaw and Broken Peace.

As a result of a fight in the yard of Pearl McClure, colored, at Eighth and Harris streets Saturday night when George Brown is alleged to have broken Lee Smith's jaw with a brick, a warrant was issued against Pearl McClure this morning for running a disorderly house. She will be tried tomorrow. Brown was present in police court this morning for breach of peace, but an investigation the police think, will leave to changing the warrant to malicious assault.

Rink Company Organized.

As exclusively announced in The Sun, "The Paducah Rink and Amusement company" filed articles of incorporation Saturday afternoon. It is capitalized at $15,000 and the stock is held by Messrs. Charles Thompson and Hal Corbett of the city and J. V. Purcell, of Lexington. The purpose of the corporation is to give to Paducah an up to date skating rink and auditorium. Plans for the building, to be located at Tenth street and Broadway, have already been drawn.

FOR SCHOOLS

EDUCATIONAL IMPROVEMENT COMMITTEE TO WORK.

Will Meet Again in Louisville November 12 to Consider Matters Pertaining to State.

Frankfort, Ky., July 22.—With the idea of planning steps for the more thorough harmonizing and unification of the diversified educational interests of the state, the executive committee of the educational improvement commission of Kentucky met at the Capitol hotel here this afternoon upon the call of Chairman E. E. Hume. At this meeting it was decided to request a conference of representatives from the State A. and M. College and the Eastern and Western Normal Schools, three state educational institutions, with the executive committee in Louisville Tuesday, November 12.

At that time needed legislation looking toward uplifting and reorganizing the entire educational system of the state will be discussed and plans for active work set on foot. In its resolutions inviting representatives from the three state institutions to meet with it this fall, a special invitation was extended to the State Federation of Women's clubs to appoint a committee of three to meet with the commission at the same time and to assist in the deliberations.

At the meeting of the executive committee today the resignation of President M. O. Winfrey, of the improvement commission was tendered, and accepted by the committee. Winfrey is the Democratic candidate for superintendent of public instruction in the election this fall and felt that he would not have the time to devote to the work of the commission that it requires, in attending to his political duties this fall. Immediately upon accepting his resignation as president, the executive committee unanimously elected him a member.

Prof. Winfrey's first act as a member of the executive committee, was to move and recommend that Prof. J. G. Crabbe, of Ashland, the Republican candidate for state superintendent against him, be made a member of the committee. In addition to the qualifications of Prof. Crabbe, to which he paid generous tribute, he said that he believed this desirable that everyone might know that political considerations occupied no place in the actions of the commission. Prof. Crabbe was unanimously elected a member.

Upon invitation of the executive committee, Mrs. Ruric N. Roark, of Richmond, chairman of the educational committee of the state federation of women's clubs, attended the meeting, and made a short talk.

Some Practical Ways of Keeping Cool

Keeping cool in warm weather is both an art and a science, and a woman who stays at home during the day should be able to accomplish it even in the hottest of summers. It is by a combination of several things that this comfortable condition is brought about. Most important of these, I would say, is to keep a house or apartment closed tight from sunrise to sunset.

I can hear some women exclaim at this, declaring that they must have air to be cool, but the breeze that blows in from city streets is far from cool; it is hot, and the house thermometer will go down accordingly. Closing out the air is a leaf from the book of southern women, who, in a more severe climate than we have, get through a hot season with less inconvenience, as a rule, because their entire mode of living is adapted to sultry days.

Out of door air while the sun is up is warmer than that of a house or apartment, and for this reason doors and windows should be closed to exclude it. Of course, curtains or blinds should be drawn to shut out the sun, and a dim light gives an effect of coolness, as it is soothing to the nerves. As soon as the sun goes down everything should be opened and allowed to remain so all night. Thus plenty of fresh air with its night coolness sweeps through, and the next morning, when everything is closed again, it is refreshing air that is shut in for the day. This mode of procedure should be followed in the country as well as in the city.

The sort of food one eats has much to do with coolness of the body through the temperature of the blood. Beef, hot, thick heavy chops and the like should not be taken from this time on until autumn. Instead cold roast beef is nourishing and more easily digested in hot weather, and light broths or jellied soups are more palatable. Cold food should be served as much as possible and an astonishing variety may be made with little expense. For example, a salad of potatoes, string beans, tomatoes, asparagus, or, indeed, any cold vegetable, seasoned with onion and well mixed with mayonnaise, makes a hearty supper if served with cold beef or other meat.

No household should be without mayonnaise in the refrigerator from the time warm weather begins, for it makes a bit of cold fish or meat delicious and is nourishing and wholesome. The combinations with which it may be used are endless.

A woman who does her own cooking, or who lives in a small house with one servant, will do well to have cooking for the day done entirely in the morning, thus letting the kitchen fire go out and prevent the additional warmth of artificial heat. This is quite possible with cold luncheons and suppers, and should it be necessary to have a kettle boiled or anything heated this may be done on a gas or one burner stove. The absence of a coal fire in the kitchen will make a great difference in the temperature of the whole house or apartment.

Taking the things of the day calmly but not lazily will do much toward keeping one comfortable on even the warmest day. Nothing is so heating as to lose one's temper or to "fuss," and the less there is of this, the better. Not even the most energetic person has "hustle" in her when the thermometer is high, and it is not to be expected that housework will go through with the same spring as on a snapping day in winter. A little slowness in all work will accomplish better results in the long run of a summer, and when hard work must be done, it will pay to get up early in the morning and have it finished before the hottest part of the day.
